#1 has a bit of quickness in her past, and moves in from the 10-hole (PP10T); Rosier's an ok gate jock; she should try and show some speed. #4 and #7 appear to be the quickest, and #7 is tied for the highest average speed at this distance and surface; both are staying put but have been racing against better with no success. #3 has the highest AVGSPPD overall, with #8 second. #3 drops to a NLL and is third off a layoff, very good connections. #5 is third off a layoff with poor figs. #6 is second off a layoff with average figs. #8 is a BTL horse, 2nd off a layoff with okay figs and highest last race speed rating, finishing third against similar.

Contenders: 3,8,1 - probably in that order. All depending on what the jockeys choose to do.

#1 is an early speed horse that tried to wire from the 4-hole ATDS against similar in last and failed; may try again. #2 makes a huge drop to a NLL, not very imposing figs. #3 broke her maiden ATDS two back with a good fig at LAD, bum race in last. #5 is an early speed horse with very little early speed, but has been racing against somewhat better. #6 was vastly overmatched at BEL and eased in her last; drops to a NLL, claimed 2 back by an excellent trainer, gets moneybags Thornton; fastest dirt speed among the starters; obvious choice, maybe too obvious? #8 broke her maiden in last at #16k on turf at 8.5f; has some good dirt works at CD, but never been on dirt, gets Diego Saenz for Tom Amoss, who usually knows what he's doing.

Contenders: #8, #6, #2 - I have a problem seeing anyone else.

#1 is an early speed horse moving from the 6-hole; wasn't very quick in her last against cheaper open company; gets Melancon, highest last race fig, 1st off 2 month layoff with boring works. #2 is probably better than her last against open company. #3 comes off three seconds in a row against statebreds, failed as favorite in last, gets Diego Saenz, contender. #4 first timer, Thornton/Broberg, okay works, well bred. #7 ran a nice race in last, possible contender. #9 bet down in last against open company, didn't run a step with Saenz aboard, good connections.

Contenders: Hey, it's a statebred maiden. Probably have to go with the first time starter: #4. After that, maybe #9, #1, #7, #3

#1 been running against similar at LAD with little success, little trouble in last at DED, switches to Bourgeois. #2 came 4th in last here against similar. #3 won her last against similar here with highest last race speed rating, highest speed rating ATDS years ago. #5 is a nine-year-old with some good past figures, but hasn't run much this year. #7 has best recent figs by far except in last here against similar, 7 year-old, switches to pretty good trainer, loses Saenz. #10 monster drop, back to winning level last year, boring connections. #12 may be the early speed if she gets in. Can't find any committed early speed other than the also eligible #12. If she gets in and gets an easy lead, she may go.

Contenders: throw a dart. Maybe #7 to close and win. I guess you have to look at #1, morning line favorite. #12 first in TOTAL PACE LAST, and BEST LAST.

#1 big drop, returns to winning level, can wire, press, or close; decent figs, comes from CBY off 3 month layoff, okay works, gets Thornton for Broberg, sheds blinkers, dangerous. #2 is one for 7 on dirt, ran poorly in last, keeps Melancon. #3 turf to dirt, 3rd off, drops, gets Nieves, inferior figs. #4 couple of good races 2 and 3 back at DED, comes off 7 month layoff with boring works. #5 big win in last against cheaper, best dirt speed in race, highest fig ATDS (tie), excellent connections, 2nd off layoff, figures. #6 looks like part of the pace. #7 BTL, second off layoff, highest last race fig, moves up in class, consider. #8 huge drop, good figs at SA/DMR early this year and in last year, highest fig ATDS (tie), wants lead and may get it. #9 good races in last two, won one, can't ignore. Tough race.

#1 reclaimed by Broberg, puts Thornton up; poor races in last two at CBY, okay works, hard to figure. #2 good connections, but can't see it. #3 early speed horse without much speed. #4 has top dirt speed among starters, but long ago. #5 BTL against similar in last at DED, big fig, came in second, work since, hot connections, 2 BTL's in his PP's, no following win. #6 third off layoff, Saenz gets back up, BTL in last as fave - lacked room, came 2nd by a head, stretches out, consider. #7 stretches out, has been bet down in last two at EVD against weaker, no win. #8 likes to run early but can press, ran out of gas in last as fave here.

#1 looks like a pop and stop type. #2 mystery horse; terrible last two; good races back in March, boring works. #3 outran his odds in BTL against similar here, highest last race speed rating, boring works, decent connections. #4 pop and stop. #5 pop and stop, couple of good races last year. #6 comes from LAD, ran like piggy in last as fave against similar here, has races that would win this, keeps Thornton for Broberg, no works, might wake up. #7 pretty big drop, excellent connections, ran like piggy in last as fave (first at DED in a long time), consider seriously. #8 pop and stop.

#1 big drop (mdn to mc) ran well at LAD three back at 4.5f in the mud, off for two months, got blitzed at RP against better in last, gets Mora back, good work (in the mud) since last, may wake up, may just be a mudder. #2 huge drop (mdn to mc), 2nd race, never close in first, boring works. #3 decent race in last here against similar, best dirt speed in race. #6 11% with FTS. #7 highest last race fig, changes barn, likes to run early but not really quick, 2nd off layoff, boring works. #9 has run two decent races so far, lost big as fave here in last, no works since, good connections. #10 comes from LAD, steps up, poor figs, gets Melancon, first-time blinkers, would be a surprise. #11 may be worth a little look if she gets in.
